THE 1967 MILESTONE

PUBLISHED ANNUALLY BY THE STUDENTS OF

GOVERNOR DUMMER ACADEMY

BYFIELD, MASSACHUSETTS

Talented and diversified men are necessary for a fine preparatory school faculty. At Governor Dummer one such man has been beneficial in many capacities through his versatility, his efficiency and his rare blend of humor and wisdom. His precise but relaxed coaching, coupled with his genuine interest for the well-being of the students, makes him a true friend. Similarly, his informal, yet still resolute, instruction of mathematics produces many stimulated and successful students. Certainly no one will soon forget his extraordinary sense of humor. The Senior Class respectfully dedicates the 1967 MILESTONE to Lucius Manlius Sargent, Jr.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The production of a yearbook is the result of many long hours of work by many people. The board of THE 1967 MILESTONE is not solely responsible for the publication but is indebted to many people:

Mr. Douglas Miller who has faithfully stood by us to help whenever he could.

Mr. Richard Weir, the representative of the American Yearbook Company, who has aided us in the actual production.

Mr. Roy Hult of Hult Studios in Melrose whose excellent photography has improved the quality of the book.

Mrs. Marjorie J. Rouisse for her accounting and bookkeeping.

Miss Louise Lovell, Miss Sylvia B. Lunt, and the entire office staff for their special information.

The MILESTONE staff for their assistance in the tedious areas of yearbook production.

Our advertisers without whom the book would have been an impossibility.

FRESHMEN

Freshman Class

Who cares how the article is started: here we are: "Fred, you wear a helmet during the game so you won't need your comb"... No. Mr. Eames, Moody III is no longer the Freshman Butt Club . . . The Moment of Truth is Something Special . . . "What happened to the Supper Train, Stillman?" . . . May 1: anyone for some hard cider? . . . "oh maybe one or two beers, but nothing strong" (that's close) . . . "Whaddya mean inspecting my room, it's 11:30!" ... "You dance with that female over there, or you won't go to another mixer all year, see!" . . . so what if there's only five freshmen out of study hall, we're saving it for next year . . . "Hey, can I borrow your bathing suit, I'm going to the grill" . . . Mr. Ogden's 6th period English class: "Work, you illiterate bums!" . . . Blakney has perfected the ability to sleep with his eyes open . . . boots and gas masks will be issued to students daring to enter the day-boy room . . . "Everything is splendid, splendid, splendid" . . . The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Students has protested the recent barrage of five megaton erasers . . . "How's your average this time, Emory?" . . . "Governor Dummer has an interesting variety of characteristics: the intellectual (rare, but there), the athletic (quite abundant), and the uniquely insane (overflowing)" . . . "Could you leave your mirror long enough to tell me the math assignment, Frank?". . . 2nd period. French I: c'est ça, n'est pas?

Although this article has not had a serious tone, such is fittingly not the class attitude, yet, Our academic and athletic potential is not extraordinary in all cases, but is promising. Having completed the toughest, but best, year, we will grow.

SOPHOMORES

Sophomore Class

The class of 1969 has been shown to be an effective cohesive unit that can be of significant value when applied to athletic and scholastic endeavors of rigorous physical and mental requirements with the guidance of regular professional care:

One fourth of us on the Honor Roll . . . Anyone for souvenirs? . . . Timkin beating up his senior proctor . . . Wheeler's desertion . . . Nate's . . . Gordon's new look on whatever Joe has a new look about . . . Commonsites trap Mr. Kenjorsky in the "Cave" . . . but there aren't any chimneys in Perkins . . . Ned's early acceptance to Brown . . . Ohhh Ralph! . . . Pates and Stella 1-A or 2-S? . . . Lennie and the washing machines serenade the waiters during grace . . . the bike "rental" behind Perkins . . . to the bridge and back, good training for Mr. Griffin's marines-to-be . . . anyone up for a re-match with Chapel Hill? . . . class meeting with Dave Marsh: "You mean the academy can be improved? . . . softer toilet paper . . . a sister school? . . . intelligence tests for study hall proctors . . . about those masters that you do get along with" . . . there's a choice tonight between Jell-o and Green Jell-o . . . Rick Whitten made it to chapel on time finally, that is, on Davlight Savings Time . . . Mr. Robinson's French seal . . . photography club covers the Friday Night Fights . . . a dozen varsity athletes . . . the Academy's new vocational course: "Waiting II"-meets ten times a week.

The class has the potential of being a productive and dedicated group. Our record, already one of which to be proud, will improve more during the next two long years.

JUNIORS

Imnior Class

The class of 1968 finds itself fast racing toward that year of truth when we will encounter that vast "other" world of college. Even though we do not have a really outstanding record at G. D. A., the class is consistently respectable, especially considering the high standards of the school.

Academically the class is led by Pete Barkin, Harry Kangis, and Jay Worthen . . . College Boards arrived in December with Ben Brewster and Tony May obtaining 800's in Math and Spanish! . . . a fall term physical fitness test resulted in only 19 juniors being recruited in the first draft of "Bod-Squad" . . . Ingham I seems to have a monopoly over next year's athletic captains . . . Big Butch Look holds the position of the B. M. O. C. with little fear of being overtaken by a distant second, Dan Ogg . . . the Junior Work Crew excels at resurrecting Lang Gvm from and for many mixers . . . the class personality has been augmented by P.G.ers, John (Don Juan) Emerson and Bubba Barbaro . . . English IIIA: "Well now, I think these four fire engines are meant to represent the four horsemen of the Apocalypse." . . . "Boy, am I ever racked off! Any one I see on that hill is on DT!" . . . Hey Bill, how many baskets sunk from that spot? . . . despite an Amesbury carpetbagger, most votes went to Dave Mitchell, John Emerson, and Bob Parsons who will be next year's class officers.

It has been a truly memorable year, but even better when we're seniors because of the new chair-lift on Ingham Slopes. Well, we'll be able to give out detentions, anyway.

CLASS HISTORY

CLASS OF 1967

On a sumny Wednesday in September of 1963 it became obvious to the observant that the Class of 1967 (as represented by the new freshmen) was to be the best of Governor Dummer's 204 classes. We started off the third century; we were in the Cassins Clay generation. We were of course timid at first, but down deep in each of us lay the stuff that great classes are made of. The usual pangs of homesickness prevailed in many of us away from home for the first time. Part of the school were still rather primitive, and we are the last class who will remember the old features. Buddha didn't hit the Grill once during his freshman year. There wasn't onc. Granted, popsicles and pastry were available at the store in Philips, but a hamburger involved a trek over to Ould Newbury. Chapel service took place in the Cobb Room on dining hall chairs, and Lang Gym became a movie theater on most Saturday nights, and an auditorium for music and dramatics on others.

Dormitories formed the focus of our extensive social life. Reid and Mac, two of Moody's party boys, got the year off with a bang as they slept through the first breakfast in their GDA careers. During intervals in the almost constant arguments between Buddha, Mike R., and John W. E., either Monk or Keith would be heard marching as guard of their third floor fortress. There were holes in their defense system, however, as their opponents managed once to decorate their abode with multitudinous, streamlined coat hangers. Monk was a little too exuberant once as he managed to project a cup of water directly into the face of surprise visitor, E. Ashley Eames. It really would have been nice if the inhabitants hadn't insisted on pulling down Mike R.'s pajama bottoms whenever he walked the corridor alone at night. Mac and Dan were the water balloon boys, and Biff just acted himself. And never let it be said that the Moody occupants were unable to take advantage of a good opportunity, for the Mr. Eames-sponsored last night water fight was a howling success. And the year wouldn't have been what it was if they hadn't collected sixty-nine thousand boxes of cereal, filled a closet with them, and later shipped them back to Bertha and Company with the words "FROSH RULE," a real truism, on each one. Things weren't all roses, however, as Larry Lougie finally bid farewell to Govieland.

It was generally a zoo on Perkins 3 in '63-'64, with such smoking, radio-playing stalwarts as Webstrina, Steve P., Billy B., and Scott E. Up at Ambrose, wherever that is, there were rumors about Roger G., and beds frequently padded with shaving cream. Rog was the sharpshooter who hurled a snowball from his window, hitting Mr. Wilkie's car with an impressive climk. That's what's known as the 4-year old error. One day the fellows from the little red house raided Ambrose in an effort to cast Stark into serene Ambrose Pond. They were successful only in breaking his spectacles, which they ended up paving for. Now that wasn't very good. This quaint building housed study facilities and tie racks for the class's ranking scholar, Dave M. Russ's Grape Nuts collection was the finest in the school.

Then there was Mason, freshmen volleyball champs. Most of the noise was provided by Scott "Blades" Cameron, Paul, and Barry. Mason did have the best parties, and literary achievements were highlighted by Richie Rover's poem. There were frightening moments when they had to walk through the Lang Butt Club (Spook took it like a man). Andy and Phil, the conservationists, rescued Heathcliff, a pigeon obviously, when the poor creature was hobbling near the tennis courts. After a romp in Mr. Dann's apartment, Heathcliff settled down in the third floor bathtub. This special bird was finally released in perfect health and has returned every spring term since. Andy almost sued the Gandis when they ran over his bike with their garbage truck. John Y. E., after reading science fiction all study hall, was sure to raffle off a couple of Cokes most every night.

Sports were exciting, also. Monk, Jim N. (Did he really love himself?). Phil, and Ben formed the mighty elephant backfield: total weight equals 380 pounds. A game hero could win the Wayne Noel Hands Award or the Dave Marsh Memorial Bread Basket Award. Biff broke his wrist playing touch football, never playing a single pony game. Chet the Jet anchored the managerial staff. Calisthenics were the high point of practice. First came two laps around the field, and then another twenty minutes of miscellaneous exercises (Joe's favorites were push-ups). Rick Senuta kept Mr. Murphy busy as he switched from football to soccer to football to high school. Soccer was more popular, especially with the pansies. Probably the most memorable game was with Belmont Hill in Morse Pond. Ben gave us his famous flex in the basketball picture, and Buddha thrilled an Alumni Gym capacity crowd with his half-court hoop versus Belvidere. Lacrosse fever hit as hard as ever that year, and many were the misfortunate who set foot upon the lacrosse field that spring. Bill II, was an integral member of the pony baseball team, although fly balls, one in particular, gave him trouble. Cap had a big freshman year athletically, but being on the junior gandhi crew the following fall seemed to destroy his initiative. Our athletic prowess was evident as Dan won a varsity tennis letter, and Mick D. and Win earned varsity baseball letters.

Freshman year was the year of the crew cuts. It was also the year that boarders knew that dayboys existed. We had study hall in the Inxurious top floor of Parsons. We showed ourselves valiant in dangerous snowball fights with upperclassmen. Mr. Edwards showed us a good time in English (Noyes Under) and on the diamond, and we disliked going to bed at 10:00. We tried to get used to Govie food, carrying trays, and the laundry. In the first two weeks we wore name tags and were sent to the kitchen to ask Bertha for saltpeter. Many were unfortunate enough to take language study, ancient history, or both. There was the beautiful bicycle built for three, and we got our kicks at Saturday night movies and on Sunday afternoon trips to Dodge's. We were innocent.

Next year we were cynical, because we were sophomores and a lot of us knew all the ropes. Jeff F. returned with long, bleached blond hair and lots of good summer stories. Eaglebrook sent its usual dignified contingent, and Bill A. started his nineletter varsity career. We first saw Tor Fink during our sophomore year. (football jock). From Applewild came Rog "No-Hit" Block, also a star soccer goalie, who in his senior year was the first draft choice in big league soccer. Evan's Motel had the usual wild ones. Dave Jasper, Dick Bailey, and Steve P, were unable to last the year, but Hugo, Roy, and Tony hung in there making great comebacks. Hanging greasies was "in," but crew cuts began to lose their appeal. There were lots of good times, and little time which had to be devoted to schoolwork. Skateboards were big time, especially on the Cottage run with Barry leading the way. Frisbee games took priority over all other after-dimer activities during the spring. The big star was George the "Steamroller," who had a hand in every pile-up. Anyone who didn't have lots of white socks was pretty much out of it, but was tolerated. GDA's first band came into existence, and Zelda served up greasies in the spanking new Grill. We suffered two great losses in the departures of Mick and Scott C

Another big intrigue in Perkins was Rog "The Cow's" neat hypnotizing job on Russ. "I Feel Fine" made Russ feel anything but, and yet not everyone could believe the stories. Electric guitars made it big on Perkins II with Ralph, Fred, and Ossie all going at it. Pete F. quickly earned his reputation. Mr. Evans threw birthday parties every other night, and the boys generally had a great time in the zoo that year.

Farmhouse had its exciting moments, too. John W. E. rarely got upset when persecuted for his religious beliefs, which were contrary to those of his dormmates. The whole dorm was faced with a dilemma when Juan dropped a shekel in the minal. Dan and Beid made the most of every dark moment, sang "Happy Trails" to perfection each night, and spent some studying time on the front porch with the mosquitos. Proctor Keith K. donble-crossed his charges when he asked them down for "Shindig", then accused them of taking advantage of him. Of course, there would have been no problem except for the performance of Jeff "Scandal" Forte at that memorable corridor party. So what if Mac likes chewing tobacco? The obvious solution was putting Biff's television in Ben's bathtub. One water fight was spectacular enough to get four kids kicked out of the dorm for two days. The Farmhouse boys ended the year in big style, with a "Goldie Oldie" session featuring Dickie Lee in Ben's room.

Cottage was reasonably peaceful, but Buddha did his usual to keep things lively, such as chipping with golf ball in the basement. That's what fills the institutions. Some claim that Dwight dreamed up the ideas and Buddha played the part of Oddjob. Wrestling was a favorite pastime, but it wasn't as popular as the miniature hockey game. You didn't really smoke in the shower, did you George? Web swears he never did. Cottage immates did manage to destroy just about everything in sight in the game room. Everyone knows the real trouble-makers were in Box nton, but somehow Ned "Cho-Cho" Helm and Sully kept them in line.

Web's bike graced the Frost Building flag pole? They say it was three-quarters of the way up before the rope snapped and the vehicle fell. It gave Web a nice project with which to occupy himself. Doug C.'s annt got quite a charge out of the decorations in her nephew's room that night. It must be admitted that the class never worked better as a team than it did that Sunday morning. We never dreamed newspapers could be so useful, nor did we dream we'd have so much him emptying it afterwards. But sooner or later we had to start doing some work and some growing up, so the following September we became juniors

Our class grew by about fifteen that fall, many of them not ringers, but jocks tried and true. Ray and Jim, two more Waterville boys, showed more than average coordination, as did Chuck, Lew, and Rick J. We condescended to accept students who formerly attended such second-rate institutions as Talt. Andover, and Exeter in the persons of Gardner, Bo, and John B. Jay M. was imported to bolster our chess forces.

Biff lived in Commons that year, assuring that dorm of more than enough bull sessions and good times. Anyone was welcome to sign the refrigerator in Key's and Harper's room, which also provided most of the perpetual music in Commons. Ray and Jeff tried to anchor down their end of the corridor, and were success-Inl in covering every available bit of wall space.

Pierce 3 was considered exclusive, at least by those on Pierce 3, and most of the guys on Pierce 1 and 2 enjoyed themselves. The class wrestling ring was on Pierce 3, as was the putting green. There were parties featuring Mrs. Martin, and for those up late. Dick B. provided the eats. Jay R. and Sid led corridor activity on Pierce 1, and at the specified times kept the atmosphere fruitful for studying. Rog G. finally got led up with life at an all-boys' boarding school, and left for greener pastures. Jell F. wasn't given a choice. Roy's room was the one filled with daily periodicals junior year, and rumor has it that Sisko's room in Perkins was not always empty (We're not talking about newspapers now.

The better half of the junior class (including the Ingham 2 LV.'s) found itself in Ingham under the careful supervision of Mr. Ogden, Mr. Ball, and the Inspector. At one end of Ingham 2 was Buddha's Casino, at the other end, Tom, instigator of the corridor swearing, which Mr. Higgins wouldn't live with. In between was Reid's room, where Bubba-Charlie Take-A-Break Nights were frequent. It was in that very room that Reid learned to play the guitar in eight easy hours a day. Hugo and Don C. had fun during daytime study halls, whether it be a grape fight. a shaving cream fight, or just a regular fight. Jav M. and Geno had many wonderful experiences with each other. Bo was an excellent corridor mother on higham 1, while Geno manned the fire extinguishers. Andy R. kept the first floor on the right track as he displayed his conductor hat on special occasions. Ted D. was everyone's favorite fashion consultant, and he helped get Ingham 2 boys out of whites. Ted staved up most of the night, especially in the spring, and ended up sleeping through social ball, the campus degenerate game, almost every day. Without a doubt, the high point of the dorm year was the presentation of the first annual Jock Awards, decided upon by Mac and Stan (safe when alone, like dynamite together). Andy R. and Web were highly honored for excellence in certain fields, but it was Jav M. who stole the show, winning the highest possible prize. which was sculptured by Mac. Remember the many well-wishers who rushed to congratulate Jay?

This was the year of the famous blackout, which interrupted the studying of so many conscientions boys. This was also the year of the hunger strike. (Love those five-day-old meatloal sandwiches.) Most of its experienced our first all-nighters as we string-gled with English papers and Physics labs. No-Doz became a household word, and expresso coffee joints appeared all over ju-nior dorms. They even made us take College Boards three times to show us what under-achievers we were Mixers made the scene: Abbott, Beaver, Pingree firm handshakes), and House in the Pines. Few will ever lorget the latter, if they were sober enough to know what happened in the first place. Everyone had a great time, but some spoiled it for the majority when they caused cancellation of the Spring Dance After Jefl W. had spent fifteen dollars on the phone). There was the happy moment when we received class rings, and the yells of triumph when we crushed the seniors in a mammoth snowball fight. We also dumped the seniors in every one of eight softball games, even though "Stone Face" didn't bat. The Class of 1967 showed its good sense at election time when Tony. Bill A., and Dave M. were chosen for class officers. Ward ran on the dayboy ticket. We had three two-year captains in Dan (tennis), Bill A. (golf), and Keith (cross country). Bill was even a three-sport captain. We were unfortunate enough to lose Joe Story, a true friend to all who knew him. The eve of Commencement was wild, especially the little card game under the light outside of Commons. Key rang out the old year and rang in the new one the last night at 1:00 AM on the roof of Parsons in a fitting climax to a great año.

All of a sudden we were seniors, but we were ready. The GDA

CLASS HISTORY

chapter of the Marvel Super Heroes was formed, headed by Joe (Captain America): and consisting of John S. (Sub-Mariner). Bill B. (The Hulk), Phil C. (Kookie Man), and Hugo (Iron Man). Fred and Chico became bosom buddies, and Animal distinguished himself as King of Drinkers. (off-campus, of course). And then there was U.S. History: unit papers, tests, quizzes, lectures. Please don't let Tuesday come! The term paper was interesting. What do you mean, note cards? A couple of all-nighters should do the trick. One night Charlie M. got up at 2:00 to work, got back in bed at 2:30, got up at 3:00, back in bed at 3:30, up at 4:00, back in bed at 4:30, up at 5:00, back in bed at 5:30, up at 6:00. Poor old Murphy. Mr. Rogers made the scene with Rogers talk from the school where he used to teach, proving himself to be probably the best teacher here, and giving us lots of laughs. He may have looked like Santa Claus, but George and Hugo say he wasn't. Guy Clarke spent the winter term with us, then decided he'd had enough boarding school to last him, and left. Ross tied troublesome underclassmen to their desks in study hall. Al had lots of fun with tutors on Sundays. "How about getting me a cheerleader, Al?" Dana Hall rated us the number one boys prep school in New England for our social qualities.

It was the year of green jello and lots of laughs, and some tears, in Speech. Rich E.: "We had two basketball games this week, sir, and I just couldn't find the time to prepare a speech." We were so good they took movies of us. Of course, Larry wasn't sure he'd perform before signing a generous contract. Wednesdays were practically holidays, and on non-holidays we had a friend at the infirmary who let us catch up on some sleep. There were also numerous dances thanks to Lew and his boys, and the mixer became a GDA institution. Mary Burnham was a high point, and everyone loved the Pinkerton men at Abbot. Chapel Hill was in the Twilight Zone (Woody, the birthday girl, et cetera). Nobody Special, with mainstays Reid and Russ, became fan-

The athletic teams had talent but terrible luck, really. The soccer team lost four games by one goal. The football team lost several key players and a couple of close games. Wrestling and basketball started strong, but experienced disappointing finishes. The hockey team had a good time, and the usual number of Boutini Bullets broke down. Win had the toughest break when a broken leg sidelined him during the baseball season.

Philips was the class rumpus room as the TV ran an average of sixteen hours a day. Reid, Rich B., and Ossie kept the strings of their guitars in constant motion to provide a background congenial to hard work. Biff and Kev somehow became roommates. Philips had the best can collection in school, and led the senior class in its degeneration. Each kid got the "Wass" call down to perfection, and by the middle of the winter term even Ray had given up hopes of reforming the dorm. It seems apparent that the Philips boys lived on the philosophy that "Insanity is the closest state to reality."

There was a rumor that some seniors lived in Pierce, but little is known of the truth of this report. Eames was the headquarters for the Marvel Heroes and Doctor Doom (God's Angry Man, if you prefer). Tor and Dave T. made sure that the West side butt club was used, but they usually slept in their rooms. A scientist at heart, Don G. experimented to see how many hours in a row his radio could run before wearing out. Carter slept with his camera every night.

And then we all decided to see what would happen if we applied to college. Somewhere or other all of us were wanted. April 17 was the Ivy day (Where did you say you were accepted. Tones?). Yale accepted four of us and so did Harvard. Ray covered his walls again; this time with letters of acceptance. Engish term paper? Are you kidding? Snow on April 24? We finally got a Spring Dance, a great one, in fact. Farmer Andy Creed even got into the act, driving the Spring Dance Committee all over New England in his truck to find goodies. Degeneration was hardly the word after that. The pond looked great that spring. We all got a chance to eat at the Wilkies', Finally it was upon us: Commencement. The greatest class gift ever was presented: $1000 from the Class of 1967 to start a fund raising drive, plus a pledge to give for the rest of our lives. Prizes, prizes, and a trip through Mrs. Wilkie's garden. We're college men now, and we celebrated with a class party in the big city. New York We had finally made it, and we were all happy.

We're gonna' miss this place.

Varsity Baseball

Governor Dummer Baseball, until two years ago, lacked any respect or support from the people connected with it. Then, in 1966, under the superb coaching powers of Mr. Sargent, the team triumphed to tie for first place in its league. The prospects for 1967 looked equally good with ten returning lettermen and the tremendous reassurance gained from the previous season. In the first game, a strong and complete team smothered Rivers 15–0. At this early point in the year though, injuries began to take their toll, culminating with star Shelton Sacks contracting mono and with co-captain Winnie Burt breaking his leg during practice. Still early in the season, a weakened and apprehensive team faced B&N and was winning 8-1 at the start of the last inning. The turning point of the season was then, when the Governors cracked under the pressure and lost 9-8. Said co-captain Ray Huard after the season, "If it hadn't been for Nobles, we might have gone all the way." Struggling against this moral defeat, the team nevertheless salvaged a winning season and boasted many excellent personal achievements. To be noted are Manson Smith who had a strong year both batting and fielding and fellow Sophomore Billy Strider, one of the co-captains for 1968. Pitching were Ray, "The Waterville Wonder Huard," who filled in at three other positions during the year and Roger Block who held a tremendous 1.50 earned run average. Jon Schaefer, the second co-captain for 1968, broke the school batting record with a .440 average. In fact, the team batted .263 and according to Huard were "the best hitting team in the league." The biggest single feat though was the coaching of Mr. Sargent over the last two years. Working with Mr. Martin as an assistant in '66 and by himself in '67, he brought a team with a notoriously bad record to a venerable position in Governor Dummer athletics. To quote Ray Huard once more, this time at the varsity awards assembly for 1967, "I don't mean to degrade Lacrosse in any way, but I honestly think that Baseball commands as much respect in the spring now as Lacrosse does.

The Morse Flag was first awarded at the 150th Commencement of this school on June 9, 1913, and it has been awarded each year since that time to the senior whose record in all respects has met with the highest approval of the faculty. According to the trust established by the late Reverend Glenn Tilly Morse, long-time friend and trustee of the Academy, a new flag is provided each year in order that the old flag which has flown during the past year may be given to a member of the graduating class.

This year the Morse Flag is awarded to RAY JO-SEPH HUARD of WATERVILLE, MAINE.

The Goodwin Athletic Prize, established by Mr. Fred H. Goodwin of the Class of 1916, and a trustee of the Academy from 1916 to 1949, is given to the senior who, by athletic achievement and sportsmanship, has brought the greatest honor to his school during the past year.

Much of what I have to say about the recipient of this prize has already been recounted this morning. A three-sport varsity athlete, a captain in two sports and Most Valuable Player in three, he has indeed been outstanding. However, my mind turns again to his tremendous dedication to his teams, his 100% effort, his pose and sportsmanship. Never have I seem him visibly rattled; never have I witnessed a flare-up of uncontrolled anger or poor conduct. He has been a credit to himself, his teams, and his school. This year's recipient is RAY JOSEPH HUARD of WATERVILLE, MAINE.

The Ingham Fund Scholarship is awarded to help an industrious and able boy work his way through school. The recipient this year is JON SCHAEFER of WEST DENNIS.

The Richard Hawes Francis Scholarship is awarded to LEO BARRETT of NEWBURYPORT, who has made substantial intellectual progress and who has demonstrated a spirit of cooperation and helpfulness during his school life.

The Cumings Prize was established by the family and friends of the late Fred T. Cumings of Troy, New Hampshire. It is awarded annually to a boy who has shown perseverance, hard work, and good spirit overcoming obstacles and disappointments.

In his academic work and in his athletics, he has the same drive, determination, and courage. He has succeeded where fainter hearts would have failed. When this prize was established, I suspect the Cumings family had in mind just such a young man as WINSTON SILL BURT of WESTON.

The Dean Channing Hale Scholarship is awarded to that student who, through his own perseverance, has shown the most improvement in the various aspects of school life and has become an esteemed contributor to the well-being of the community.

This year's recipient is STEPHEN MacDONALD MURPHY of SOUTH BYFIELD.

During the past year the Charles E. Merrill Trust has established the Charles E. Merrill School-College Scholarship Program to benefit a member of the junior class possessing strong intellectual ability and determination to take full advantage of his educational opportunities. Governor Dummer is one of a small number of schools to which the Foundation has made available such a scholarship to a boy who could not attend the school without large financial assistance and who shows strong promise for the future. It is a six-year grant, covering two years of secondary school and four years of college. It is a great pleasure for me to award this first Merrill Scholarship to VICTOR MAX BOND of HENDERSON, NORTH CAROLINA.

The Gaffney Prize, established in memory of Robert A. Gaffney of the Class of 1940, is awarded to that senior who, in the opinion of his teachers, has been most considerate of the rights, opinions, and sensibilities of others. And so it is with particular pleasure that I award the Gaffney Prize to RICHARD CRAWFORD of HINGHAM.

The James M. Barriskill Prize, established in 1960 by the students in memory of Mr. Barriskill of the faculty, is awarded annually to that member of the senior class who has made an outstanding contributuion in the field of music at the Academy.

This year's recipient is THEODORE HOWARD DIX of COLLEGE STATION, TEXAS.

The Harvard Prize Book has been endowed by Mr. Roger B. Coulter, Class of 1913, and a trustee of the Academy, so that it may be awarded each year in the future.

The Book is awarded to that member of the junior class deemed most worthy through high scholarship and character. The winner this year has held to the highest standards as a consistent honor student, a member of the Red Key Honor Society and the staff of the "Spire." This summer his commitment to service will take him with our group going to work on the Indian reservation in North Dakota.

It is my pleasure to award the Harvard Prize Book to ROBERT TOMBAREL MARTIN of MEL-ROSE. The Timothy Rogers Wittemore Award is given annually to that member of the sophomore class who by his attitude and perseverance has been the best contribution to the Academy. WILLIAM STRIDER of WATERVILLE, MAINE, is just such a boy.

Four years ago there arrived at the Academy a young man whom I had known for many years. I felt sure he would be successful here, but the facts and figures gave no indication of the degree of his success. His career has been marked by a dedication to all aspects of student life. A member of Cum Laude, three-sport varsity athlete and co-captain in two, Chairman of the Library Committee, he has achieved both the highest academic distinction and athletic success, and he has demonstrated a keen sense of responsibility. A brilliant example of achievement through dedication and perseverance is HARPER FOLLANSBEE, JR. of ANDOVER. Winner of the First Special Prize.

We read a great deal these days about the decline of principles and values among our youth. I doubt this is so, and my opinion is well substantiated by many of our students. However, one of them does stand out for his high standards and willingness to fight for them. In addition, he has distinguished himself as a scholar, as an editor of the "Spire," and as an excellent wrestler. In the years ahead he will continue to have strong impact on those around him in raising their sights and standards to meet his own. The recipient of the Second Special Prize is DA-VID SNOW LEWIS of GROTON.

The Third Special Prize is awarded to a senior who embodies the old adage about good things in small packages. Where he has found the time and energy to accomplish so much I scarcely know. In each 24-hour day he has mustered the effort to earn election to Cum Laude, serve as editor of the "Governor", Chairman of the Language Lab, President of the Glee Club, and dormitory proctor, compete on even terms with larger rivals in football, wrestling, and tennis, and serve as Captain of the latter. I am weary just recounting all this, but also very proud to present this prize to DANIEL MURRAY MORGAN of SHREWSBURY.

We all admire the individual who will stand up for ideas and principles in which he believes. We also take pride in those who make great progress through conscientiousness and an unwillingness to quit when the going gets rough. In academics, in wrestling, as a dormitory proctor, this young man has earned our admiration and I take pride in honoring him tonight. The recipient of the Fourth Special Prize is ROGER THOMSON BLOCK of FITCHBURG.

There are areas of school life in which our students can make their mark and gain a feeling of satisfaction. The winner of the Fifth Speical Prize has excelled in art. He is fortunte, for he has discovered an interest and a talent which will enrich his future life. However, he is also recognized tonight for his unusual conscientiousness, his ability to overcome adversity, and his loyalty to groups of which he has been a part and to the school. The recipient of this prize is JEFFERY WALLINGFORD WOOD of OLD TOWN, MAINE.

The Sixth Special Prize goes to one of our outstanding scholar-athletes. He has set high standards for himself in both of these areas and met them admirably. A strong student, he has also been one of the finest wrestlers in the annals of the school and an excellent captain. Furthermore, he has accepted responsibility well in his senior duties and has demonstrated an independence of mind so important to his future contributions in college and career. I am very pleased to present this prize to JAMES CHRISTIE NEVIUS of RED BANK, NEW JERSEY.

The last, but by no means the least, Special Prize goes to a senior who has made maximum use of his abilities to improve his own performances and to serve his school. Neither a strong student nor an unusually gifted athlete, nonetheless he has achieved academic success and has made great contributions to three varsity teams as performer and captain of all three. But most of all he has given full measure of his time and energy in his role as Vice President of the class. Loyalty, courage perseverance, concern for his fellows and his school, these qualities have been paramount in his life at the academy.

It is my great pleasure to award this Special Prize to WILLIAM LEE ALFOND of WATERVILLE, MAINE.

For many years, the Academy Prize was maintained by the mother of Headmaster Emeritus Edward W. Eames. In June 1959, the underclassmen of the Academy endowed this prize so that henceforth at each Commencement it could be given "in honor of Edward W. and Eleanor K. Eames so that the qualities they so deeply prized might be prized in turn by future and succeeding classes". It is awarded to that senior who by his unselfness and sportsmanship has been exemplified the spirit of the school.

In presenting the prize, Mr. Wilkie said: "A strong student, a fine three-sport athlete, an editor of the SPIRE. But of greater importance he has led the school with thoughtfulness, and with strength, with tact and with consideration." The recipient of the Academy Prize is ANTHONY R. H. GERARD of BERNARDSVILLE, NEW JERSEY.

obody knows how many hundreds of thousands of people will dine tonight with Towle Sterling — but the actual number would be startling. For in the two-and-a-half centuries that beautiful silver has been made in Newburyport, the demand for its patterns has moved steadily upward. Craft traditions reaching back almost to the Pilgrims are part of the reason for Towle progress, but probably the chief reason is a certain soundness of design — patterns that wear well — that wear so well, in fact, that they become at once a proud possession and a beloved part of family life.
